Prilep Near Capture and Monastir Next Objective; Reports of Food Riots in Berlin
Reach London

By United Press.
ROME, Nov. 17.—A submarine, supposedly Austrian, sank the Italian passenger steamer Bormida off the Sicilian coast, while the vessel was returning from a trip to Tripoli, it was announced today.

Details of the disaster are meager, but it is reported that all on board the vessel were saved.

The Italian steamer Milano was stopped by a German submarine in the Mediterranean, but was spared because of several Americans on board, it is reported.

dispatches received here today the Bulgarian forces overwhelmed the Serbian north of Prilep, which is expected that the next objective to

To Renounce Temporal Power.

By United Press.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—According to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome, the pope will practically, though not formally, renounce all temporal power at the next consistory in order to enable him to take part in future European peace conferences.

It is assumed that the pope has in mind participation by the Vatican in the peace negotiations and subsequent conferences for the settlement of questions such as will arise from conditions in Belgium. To do this it is expected that the renunciation of his claims to temporal power will be a concession demanded by Italy.

the work of preparing his semi-annual is a most complete one and is systematically arranged and at the same time so made out, each item brought forward in so simple and plain a manner that it is easily understood by any one who may look over it in search of information about the city's financial condition.

The report shows that on May 1, 1915, the city had cash on hands of treasurer and in bank $163,124.83; that from May 1, to November 1, 1915, the

WHEAT AVERAGED WELL.

Springs community, in an effort to large acreage of his farm to wheat last fall. This fall Mr. Dryden threshed an average of 19½ bushels to the acre from his wheat crop and is well pleased with the result.

TWO HURT IN SLASHING

A serious cutting affray happened at Rush Springs shortly before 9 o'clock last night when R. L. Williams and Marion Davis settled an argument with knives.

Justice of the Peace A. L. Evans phoned the sheriff's office last night immediately following the cutting and stated that he had placed both men under constructive arrest, stating that each of them was more or less badly injured. Deputy Sheriff Hogue and Assistant County Attorney Swan went to Rush Springs this morning and will investigate the matter thoroughly.

From reports received at the county attorney's office, it seems that Davis, who is a cousin of Williams' wife and makes his home with the Williams family, became engaged in an altercation with Williams, who, the report alleges had been drinking. High words followed which soon led to a fight. Both men drew their knives and began slashing at each other with the results that Davis, the younger man, is reported to be in a serious condition, while Williams is also suffering from one or two stabs.

Both men are under the care of a physician and are in charge of the officers.

RALLY FOR EDUCATION IN COUNTY

Five Hundred Addresses Scheduled; Col. O'Neill Speaks at Amber; Moonlight Schools are Making Progress

All plans have been formulated for making the educational rally of Grady county a complete success. Addresses by leading educational celebrities will be made in all parts of the county.
Arrangements along these lines have provided for approximately five hundred addresses to be made in the different districts of the county by educators from all parts of the state. All addresses will be made on subjects of educational interest and great attention will be given the moonlight school subject.

Already a number of meetings have been held in various sections of the county, including one at Amber last Sunday, when Col. Thomas J. O'Neill was the speaker. Referring to conditions which he found there, Colonel O'Neill said, "I never saw a community where a finer school spirit prevailed. Mrs. Wickhizer, the principal of the school, is doing remarkably good work, having succeeded in arousing a high degree of interest among both pupils and patrons of the school.
The Amber school has become a vital factor in the community life, due to the broad ideas and zeal of the principal in his efforts to produce practical results."

County Superintendent Shepard addressed a meeting at Alex, Thursday evening when the second session of the Alex "moonlight" school was held, with fifty pupils of mature years present. "It was a fine sight to see the grown folks getting together and taking so much interest in bettering their education," said he. "The evening sessions are bringing the parents into closer contact with the teachers, a fact that is stimulating school interest in all lines."

The Alex school is in charge of Principal J. C. Weaver, who has four assistants, and is reported by Mr.
Shepard to be doing fine work.

At the present time there are sixty moonlight schools in the county. The grown-ups enrolled in them are proving to be apt students and rapid progress is reported.

number of cases wherein the lessees of certain school lands, situated in the appraisements on those lands.

number of instances are too high.
Seven complaints have been filed with Mr. Smith and he is investigating the matters thoroughly.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF PERJURY

County Attorney Venable filed complaint in the county court this morning against T. I. Goodwin of Ninnekah, charging perjury. Goodwin was placed under arrest by Deputy Castleman of the sheriff's office and arraigned before Judge Davenport at one-thirty this afternoon. His hearing was set for Thursday, November 24, and he was held in bonds in the sum of $1,500 for his appearance in court on that date.

The arrest of Goodwin is an aftertober term of the district court, Polk being found guilty of shooting at Sheriff Hodge Bailey with intent to kill, at the place and at the time Dude Polk's conviction.

Polk was sentenced to a term in the penitentiary and is now under bail pending the hearing by the appellate court of his appeal.

SEEK JOBS AS SHELL MAKERS

British Women Want to Solve Munitions Question for Allies and May Be Given Chance to Try Hand

TWO MILLION EAGER TO ENTER FACTORIES

Have Already Made Good on Light Part of Work; Employed Exclusively in One Plant and Show Skill

(U. P. correspondence.) LONDON, Oct. 2.—(By mail.)—If Lloyd George will permit the women of England to win the war for the allies by solving the question of munitions, they'll do it, they say. Two million of them say it. Under the increasing pressure they are bringing to bear on the minister of munitions, he is showing a disposition to give them a try.

They have pointed out to Lloyd George that England has at least 2,000,000 women who can devote their entire time to shell making. Every woman, they insist, can make at least one shell a day. That means 2,000,000 shells a day, a number far beyond Lloyd George's most extravagant estimate of England's needs. The women would like to undertake the job for all the allies.

Recently a military expert established that the French consumption of shells in July was 100,000 a day.
It is certain that it is not now over 1,000,000 a day. This would leave a daily surplus of another million per day to pass around to the other allies.
The women say that after Lloyd George their next greatest obstacle has been the engineer employers at the munition factories who have used them for fuse making and light electrical work, but decline to give them charge of the heavy machine tools.

Just to show them how wrong they were, the women at last succeeded in arranging for a full experiment in several of the factories testifying both to their ability and capacity for any branch of shell making.

They are declared to have done their work with an exactitude, thoroughness and conscientiousness that could not be excelled. They put into it brain as well as muscle. In one factory where women were employed exclusively, the output showed a quality superior to that for which it was designed.

The women are admitted to have become skilled in far shorter time than is required by men. A week's tuition is quite sufficient to initiate a woman into every process of complete shell making, equipping her to begin with a plain bar of steel and put it through all the successive stages of turning, boring, screwing and fitting the band and the plug. She showed equal ability in the factories making munitions machines.
